Safety Ticket Management
EASY–TO–USE. SAFETY FOCUSED. ALL–IN–ONE.

Manage and track the status of your workers' certifications and training.

How well do you know the status of your workers' accreditations? A strong safety program ensures your people (employees as well as contractors) have the training and certifications required to safely be on-site and performing their duties.

Field Safe's Safety Ticket Management protects your employees and contractors, ensuring they have the training they need to do their jobs safely and efficiently. We do this by digitizing field data collection and using the data gathered to identify an individual's training requirements, completion progress and providing access to additional work sites, equipment and materials as competencies are attained. Calendar reminders are set to ensure training and certification expiration dates are recorded and completed.

Safety Ticket Management tracks the accreditation of employees and contractors which improves worker safety while lowering your operating costs.

Key Benefits of Safety Ticket Management:

- Track In-house Skills and Expertise. Know the level of training of any individual at any time and fill gaps that might exist. Identify levels of expertise and areas of specialization that could benefit the organization.

- Promote Career Growth. Create a clear learning path. Make sure your people know what training and education is available to them and how it may affect employment opportunities and career advancement.

- Lower Operating Costs. Ensure everyone has the training and certifications required to do their jobs safely and avoid incidents. Studies show that incident penalties cost app. $20k each in direct costs and 4-6x that in indirect costs.

- Identify Gaps in Credentials. Not only can you track an individual's training and certifications status, but also identify and correct any skills gaps your team may have.

- Increase Training Completion Rates. Clearly communicating education and accreditation requirements to each team member raises awareness and training completion rates.

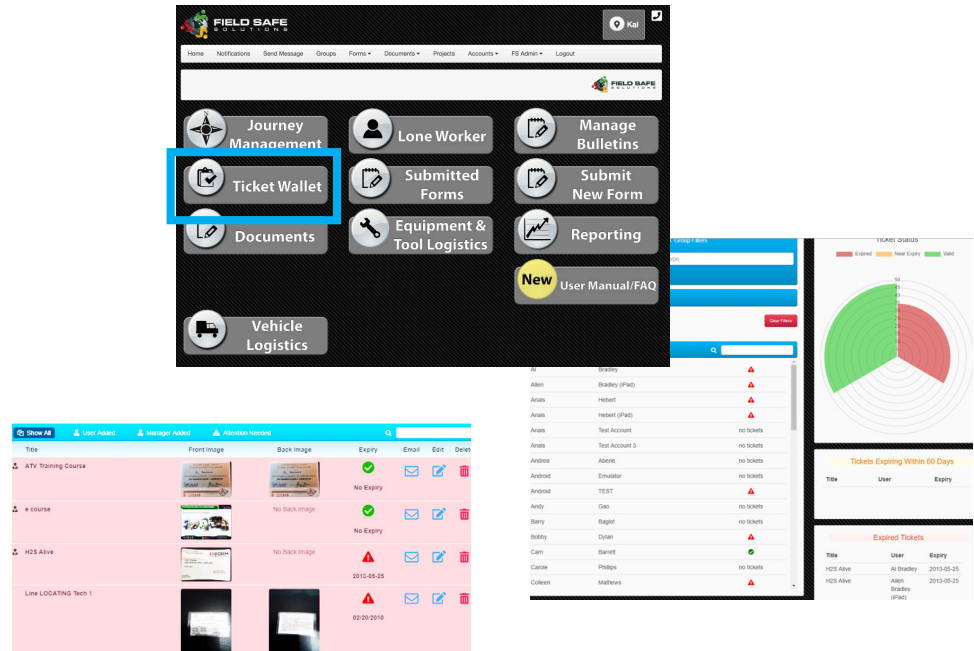

"Our system is so easy to use, we ship without a manual!"

Field Safe Solutions

Ensure your employees and contractors have the training they need to do their jobs safely.

Without the appropriate employee expertise, you may be at risk of increased incidents, regulatory non-compliance fines and higher workers' compensation and insurance premiums. With Field Safe, you know in real-time the status of every team member's certifications and training.
